RANGE ROVER EVOQUE Software Now Available on Autologic!

Specialist Software Engineers at Autologic Diagnostics Ltd - the manufacturer of dealer-level diagnostics tool the Autologic - have written and developed Autologic software for Land Rover's latest model – the super-stylish Range Rover Evoque.

Only just released this September by the manufacturer, Autologic Diagnostics started received calls within a week of the model's release from current Autologic users keen to see the model included as part of Autologic's Land Rover diagnostic package.

Now released to all Autologic users currently in maintenance, the new Land Rover Evoque software covers Fault code reading, Live data, Activations, Key programming, Vehicle configuration editing and module programming. Together with the flash programming capability, this means that yet again Autologic's dealer-level diagnostic software will allow independent garages the world over to remain autonomous from the dealer and retain valued custom from car owners.

"I am extremely pleased with how the development has gone," commented Autologic's Technical Director Ian Jones. On the speed in which the Land Rover software team worked he continued, "To provide garages with the ability to work on the new Evoque model within 2 months of its rolling off the factory forecourt shows great skill and perseverance by our Land Rover software team. All our software engineers and master technicians constantly apply themselves - the speed of the Evoque software development is just another example of our ongoing commitment to customers."
